Welcome to this wonderful venue for the arts in St. Michaels. We must defer to the following rules, as the business HERE is actually a LIBRARY. You and/or your group have requested to exhibit your work at the St. Michaels Library in St. Michaels. By signing up to show your work, you, as Contact Person, certify that you understand and agree that you and your exhibitors will abide by the following:

- ✓ The Talbot County Free Library is NOT responsible for your artwork, in any way. It will be displayed when the Library is open during regular hours and possibly during evening meetings. Though Library staff is always on premises, they cannot be responsible for your work in any way.
- ✓ Library Staff cannot assist in answering questions or selling your artwork. You must display information to Gallery attendees via posted prices on a list with phone number, or on individual cards on each piece to answer questions.
- ✓ Your work must be suitable to be displayed in public buildings and around families and children and may be removed at the discretion of the Library at any time.
- ✓ It is your responsibility to view the molding and hanging rods and hooks apparatus, and ready your work for display on them. Absolutely NO nails, tape or sticky material can be used on the Gallery walls.
- ✓ If you do not pick up your work at end of display period, we are not responsible for keeping track of it.
